

Ordering and Grouping

UX DESIGN COURSE

Why do you think the search bar is located on the top part?

ans.

Users can quickly and easily discover the information they need thanks to the search bar's top-of-the-screen location, which also offers an uniform and reassuring user experience.

Why do the threads, all DMs, mentions & reactions, and saved items are group together on the upper part of lev navigation?

ans.

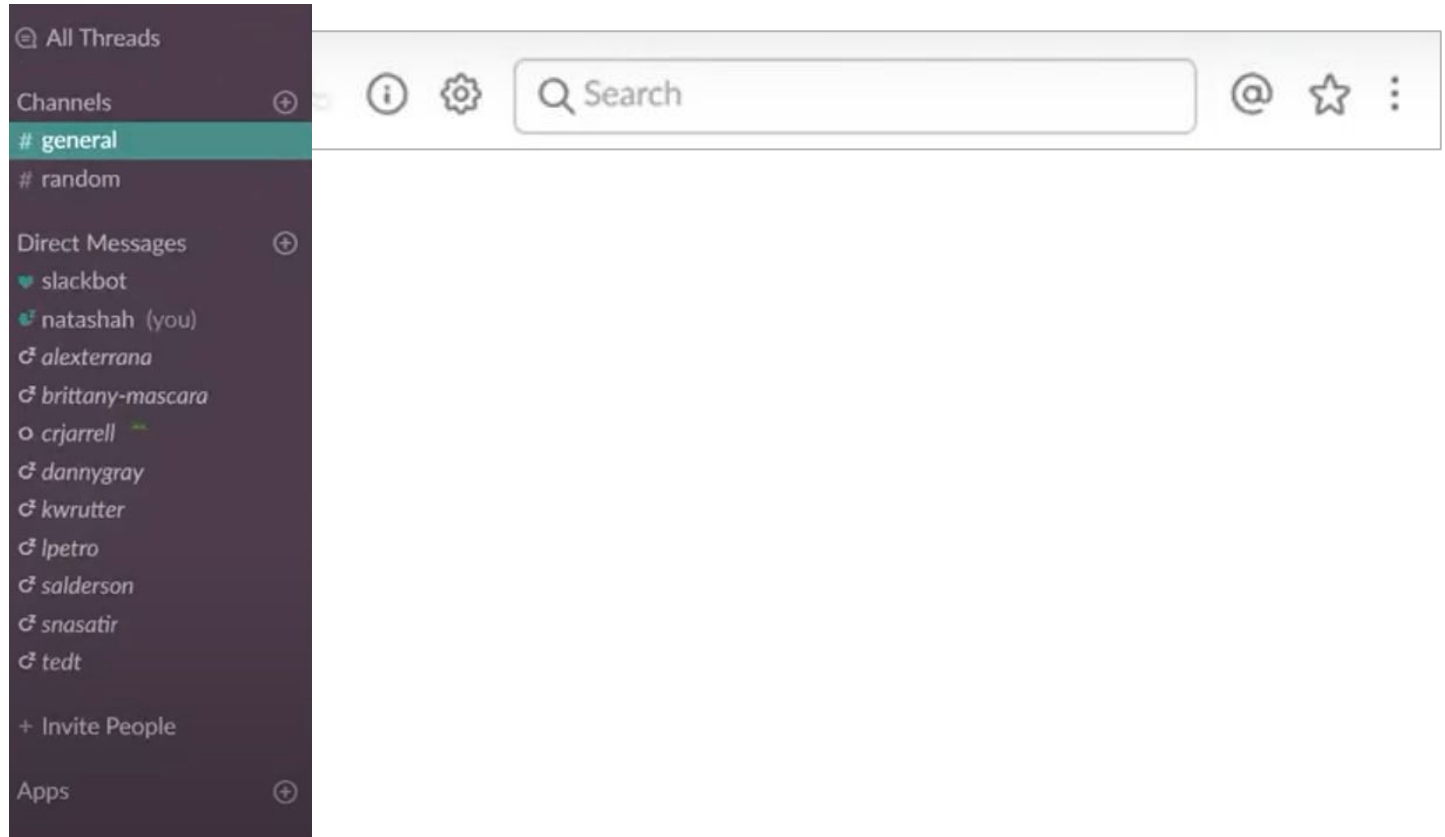

A user-friendly design decision that gives users quick access to their most crucial messaging features is grouping threads, all DMs, mentions & responses, and stored items together in the upper section of the left menu.

Why starred groups and channels are highly prioritized before direct messages?

ans.

Prioritizing starred groups and channels can also help users to be more efficient in their communication, by allowing them to quickly access the conversations or topics that require their attention.
